PARC Needs A New President

Joe Means, N0XAT, was nominated as PARC's 2018 President at our October meeting. Unfortunately, Joe has informed the other officers he will be unable to fill the roll of president due to other commitments.

So the first order of business at this upcoming January meeting, will be to elect a new president.

The new president will then appoint the various chair people for 2018. Come prepared to recommend and/ or serve.

CQ Print Version Questionable

For most of the people I have talked to, the last print version of CQ Magazine they have received is October 2017. The latest version on their website is November 2017. This would make me wonder if they finally have ceased publication. However, I found the following on their Facebook page: NOTICE TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS OF THE PRINT EDITIONS OF THE CQ AMATEUR RADIO MAGAZINE: From <http://cqnewsroom.blogspot.com/.../cq-to-jump-start-print-edi...> we have: CQ to "Jump-Start" Print Edition With January Issue - November and December Issues to be Digital Only Please note: All print subscriptions are being extended for two months.

Readers of CQ magazine's print edition are well aware we have been behind schedule on printing and mailing our issues on a timely basis. We apologize for these delays, which resulted from a variety of little things going wrong, all at the same time.

Rather than trying to play catch-up over the course of the next several months, we have made the decision to allow the November and December 2017 issues to remain as digital-only issues, and to jump-start our print edition with the January 2018 issue. This will enable us to get back and stay on schedule as we move toward our 75th anniversary of serving the amateur radio community. The January issue is at the printer being processed right now.

Please note: All print subscriptions are being extended for two months.

Anyone may access the digital editions of the November and December issues using the following links:

Linda found a great place for a Christmas Party and Jane gave us a lot of fun and games at that party.

Great work, gals!

As you can see by the photos, lots of people enjoyed the 2017 PARC Christmas Party at the Outer Limits Restaurant in Valley, NE on December 9th.

From the comments I heard, the food was delicious, too.
